The testimeny of a number of person-can be adduced, who have reason to be-lieve that a timely use of this salutary remedy has, under Providence, preserved their lives when in the most alarming cir-

Facts of this conclusive nature speak more in favour of a medicine than conere assertion.

It is not indeed presumptuously proposed as an infallible cure, but the inventor has every possible reason that can result from extensive experience for be-lieving that a dose of these Pills taken once in every two weeks during the pre-valence of our bilious fevers, will prove an infallible preventive; and further, that in the earlier stages of those diseases their use will very generally succeed in restoring health, and frequently in cases esteemed desperate and beyond the power of common remedies.

The operation of these pills is perfectly mild, so as to be used with safety by persons in every situation and of every age. They are excellently adapted to carry off superfluous bile and prevent its moroff superfluous one and prevent his andappetite—to produce a free perspiration and thereby prevent colds which are often of fatal consequences. A dose never fails to remove a cold if taken on its hrst appearance: they are celebrated for re-moving habitual costiveness—sickness at the stomach and severe head-ache-and ought to be taken by all persons on a change of climate.

They have been found remarkably effieatious in preventing and curing disor-ders attendant on long voyages, and should be procured and carefully preserved for use by every seaman.

COMMUNICATED FOR THE GAZETTE. LORD BYRON.

nuel from a Lundon Receptor It was in 1812, when lord Byron rerned to England, that " Childe Harold's nage" made its first appearance. equal to any work which has apared within this or the last century,is indeed so general among all and classes, that the impulse reselved by the public mind on such occase le instantaneous through all but the very lowest classes of society, instead of being slowly communicated from une set of readers to another, as was the case in the days of our fathers. The pilgrimage, alculated to rouse and arrest the attenfon in a peculiar degree. The fictitious personage, whose sentiments, however, none could help identifying with those of the author bimself, presented hunself with an avowed disdain of all the attributes which most men would be gladly supposed to possess. Childe Harold is represented as one satiated by indulgence in pleasure, and seeking in change of place and c'imate a relief from the tedium of a life which glided on without an object. The as uming of such a character as the medium of communicating his poetry and his sentiments indicated a feeling towards the public, which, if it fell short of contenning their favor, disdained at least all attempts to propitiate them. Yet the very boldness of this repulsive personification, joined to the energy with which it was supported, and to the indications of a powerful and original mind, which glanced through every line of the poem, electrified the mass of renders, and plased at once upon lord Byron's head the garland for which other men of genius ave toiled long, and which they have gained late. He was placed pre-eminent among the literary men of his country by meral scelamation. Those who had so gorously censured his juvenile essays, and perhaps " dreaded such another were the first to pay warm, and, lieve, sincere homage to his matur ents of Childe Barold much to repet and to consure, did not withhold te of applause to the depth of whit, the power and force of expresm, the beauty of description, and the erry of sentiment which animated "the mage." If the volume was laid afor a moment, under the melanche ly and unpleasing impression that it seemed calculated to chase hope from side of man, and to dim his prespects both for this life and futurity, it was immediately and almost involuntarily re-mediately and almost involuntarily re-15th of this mouth, with Mr. Rush, our have seen, and have but little doubt that, sumed again, as our feeling of the author's Minister at the Court of St. James. After genius predominated over our dishke to landing Mr. R. Commodore Stewart pro-contemplate the gluomy views of human before us. Senething was set down to or beginning of March next.

The angry recollection of his first failure, nature which it was his pleasure to place the angry recollection of his first failure. which might fairly authorise so high a mind to hold the world's opinion in contempt; something was allowed for the recent family losses to which the poem alluded, and under the feeling of which it had been partly written; and it seem ed to most readers as if gentler and more kindly features were, at times, seen to glance from under the cloud of misanthro py, which the author bail flung around his hero. Thus, as all admired the pilgrimage of Childe Harold, all were prepared to great the author with that fome which is the poet's hast reward, and which is chirdly and most justly due to one who, in these exhausted days, strikes out a new and original line of composition.

It is well known how wide the doors of ociety are opened in London to literary merit, even of a degree tar inferior to ord Byron's, and that it is only necessary to be honorably distinguished by the public voice to move as a depizen in the first circles. This passport was not necessary to lord Byran, who possessed the hereditary claims of birth and rank. But the interest which his genius attached to his presence and to his conversation was of a nature far beyond what these bereditary claims could of themselves have conferred, and his reception was enthustastic beyond any thing we have ever witnessed, or even heard reported. We have already noticed that lord Byron is not one of those literary men of whom it may truly be said minuit presentia famam A countenance exquisitely modelled to the expression of feeling and passion, and exhibiting the remarkable contrast of ve-ry black hair and eye-brows with light and expressive eyes, presented the physi agromist the most interesting subject to the exercise of his art. The predominating expression was that of deep and habitual thought, which gave way to the most rapid play of features when he engaged is interesting discussion; so that brother poet compared them to the sculpture of a beautiful alabaster vase, only seen to perfection when lighted up from within. The floshes of mirth, gaiety, indignation, or satirical delight, which requently animated lord Byron's counenance might, during an evening's con versation, be mistaken by a stranger for the habitual expression, an easily and so happily was it formed for them all ; but those who had an opportunity of studying his features for a length of time and upon various eccasions, both of rest and emotion, will agree with no that their proper language was that of melancholy. We have been favored with the perusal of a letter from a gentleman in Amelia, to a correspondent in this city, trem which we have been permitted to make the following extract. The letter is dated Pernandina, Oct. 23, 1817.

"Waye I to attempt to detail the particulars of all the squabbles we have had in this infant republic, since my arrival here, it would require more time than the duties of my situation will permit. Let it suffice, however, that we (the whites) have twice faced the black troops and the have twice faced the black troops and the French, who joined them; although they out-numbered us, yet we claim the victory. One of our party was shot through ry. One of our party was shot through the arm at the commencement of the fray of the 12th October—as published in our last.] General Aury arrived, pushed into the fort, and prevented the blacks from figing on the town. This gained him considerable popularity, although he had previously been much di-liked. After considerable discussion, it was agreed to mount a double guard—twelve whites and twelve blacks—the key of the fort to be given to the white officer. In this state affairs continued notil the Tuesday to elect a governor and council, (the for-mer being self-assumed)—A musket was discharged about one o'clock, and immeurbance of Sunday.

"We were on the alert—again faced hem—and had not the authorities interthem—and had not the authorities inter-fered, this would have proved a bloody day, we having received reinforcements from the shipping. With regard to the late call of General Gaines, upon the Georgia executive, for a detachment of militia, and which, perhaps providentially, miscarried, I am rejuiced to perceive that there existed no necessity for the march of the required troops—as the suspected ludians have remained ever since profoundly quiet. In-deed it would be madness in them to stir at this time, when our bands are left pefeetly free to overwhelm them at once with a vanily appearing Among the late presents to Peale's with a vastly superior force. Mrs. Tinny heard the piercing cries of the heifer, and endeavored to persuade her husband to get up, and go to its absistance. After a good deal of to its assistance. After a good deal of persuation he consented. She got up, found his gun, powder and hall, loaded the gun, and fixed the bayongt. She armed her boy with an axe, and he self with a club and proceeded in front of her husband to the attack. On coming in sight of the measter, she perceived that he had already getten the heifer upon the ground, and immediately bid her hisband round, and immediately be her husband to fire. He fired, but without effect.— The bear left the heifer, and appear d The bear left the heifer, and appear of disposed to get between his assailants and the house. Mrs. Timy then bade her husband to retreat a little until he could load again, and as they retired the hear placed himself between them and the heifer. "All this while." says Mrs. Timy, "the heifer was rooring as the in the greatest distress, and the bear was making tremendous yells, as though he meant to devour all around him." She was however, not in the least dishearras, however, not in the least dishear-ened. The bear soon approached to ithin about two and a half rods of her, when she ordered her husband to fire.— His accord shot was more successful.— The bear attered a tremendous yell, and an from them to some distance. The accounts from London this morn ng state that an affvance of from 8 to 10s cer quarter has taken place in wheat, saich if maintained, our ports, will unquestionably remain open after the 15th Nov. The harvest is not so superabun-dant as was represented; indeed most of the new wheat is damp, and unfit for of the new wheat is damp, and unit to immediate use. In consequence flour has been gradually advancing for the last ten days; and 54 to 36s for sweet Am. flour, and 42 to 45s per bbl: for sour, is now demanded. Rice is scarce and stea-

The pioneers therefore set to work, to deepen the old, and prepare new holes, against day break, when I proposed making the final attempt. At 4 o'clock of the morning yesterday, however, they burst through all my guards, and making for a village 3 miles distant, entered with so much rapidity, that the horsemen who gal-loped in front of them, had not time apprise the inhabitants of their danger; and I regret to say, that child trodden to death, and two wonow become absolutely necessary, & as they appeared to show no in lina-tion to quit the village, we gained time to bring up the four pounders, from which they soon received round shot, and abundance of grape each. The largest of the two was soon brought to the ground, by a round shows in the head, butafter remaining there a quar-ter of an hour, apparently lifeless, he got up as vigorous as ever, and the desperation of both exceeded all de-scription—they made repeated char-ges nearly within 100 yards of the guns, and had it dot been for the uncommon steadiness and bravery of the artillery men (who more than once turned them off by shot in the head when within a few yards of them, many casualities must have happened. We were now obliged to desist for the want of ammunition and shot; and before a fresh supply could be obtained, the Elephants quitted the village, and though streaming with blood from 100 wounds, proceeded with a rapidi-ty, of which before I had no idea, to Hazarabang. They were at length brought up by the horsemen, and our elephants, when within a very short space of a crowder (Bazar), and ultimately, after many renewals of their most formidable attack on the guns, they gave up the contest with their lives. Nineteen four pound shot have already been taken out of their bodies, and I imagine that eighteen more will be found. I have been thus par-ticular, both because I think the transaction worthy of being recorded, and also from a hope, that you will con-cur with me in the propriety of an application to government, for a com-pensation for the damages suffered by the owners of the villages of Jusipoon the owners of the villages of Jusipoor and Orad, from the destruction of much grain, &c. HAHN'S ANTI-BILIOUS PILLS THIS Medicine has been attended with a degree of success highly grateful to the inventor's feelings in several parts of the West Indies and in the Southern and Middle States, &c.

The testimony of a number of person can be adduced; who have reason to be can be and uced, the nave reason to be lieve that a timely use of this salutary remedy has, under Providence, preserved their lives when in the most alarming cir.

Cuastances.

Facts of this conclusive nature speak more in favour of a medicine than columns of pompous eulogy founded on mere assertion.

mere assertion.

It is not indeed presumptuously proposed as an infallible cure, but the inventor has every possible reason that can result from extensive experience for believing that a dose of these Pills taken once is every two weeks during the prevalence of our bilious fevers, will prosupplied in the installible instantive; and further

valence of our bilious fevers, will prose an infallible preventive; and further, that in the earlier stages of those disease their use will very generally succeed in restoring health, and frequently in case esteemed desperate and beyond the power of common remedies.

The operation of these pills is perfectly mild, so as to be used with safety by peraons in every situation and of every age.
They are excellently adapted to carry off superfluous bile and prevent its mabid secretions—to restore and amend the appetite—to produce a free perspiration and thereby prevent colds which are often of fatal consequences. A dose never fails to remove a cold if taken on its lirst appearance: they are celebrated for reappearance: they are celebrated for re-moving habitual contiveness—sickness at the stomach and severe head-ache-and ought to be taken by all persons on a Change of climate.
They have been found remarkably effectively catious in preventing and euring disorders attendant on long voyages, and should be procured and carefully preserved for use by every seaman.

Hamilton's Elixir, A sovereign remedy for colds, obsti-nate coughs, asthmas, sore threats, ca-turable, and approaching consumptions.— To parents who have children afficied with the HOOPING COUGH, this discovery is of the first magnitude, as it afmediate relief, cheeks the progress, and in a short time entirely reeves the most cruel disorders to which children are liable.
